NEW YORK, June 18.—Theodore Roosevelt returned to America today after an absence of fifteen months, during which time he hunted big game in African jungles, hob-nobbed with kings and royalty in Europe and acted as American Ambassador at the funeral of King Edward VII.

He went away on March 23, 1909, shortly after his retirement from the highest office in the gift of the American people. He came back today a private citizen, but one to whom was tendered the most enthusiastic greeting ever given a returning countryman.

The reception to Colonel Roosevelt started at daybreak this morning, when the Hamburg-American liner Kaiserin Augusta Victoria came abreast of Fire Island, down the Long Island coast, 60 miles out of New York harbor. It continued at quarantine and in a naval pageant up the Hudson River; it reached a climax in Battery Park where the official welcoming committee, and became a real American greeting in which Theodore Roosevelt was the guest of his friends, the "common people," in the march up Broadway and Fifth Avenue.

It had been publicly announced that the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria would reach quarantine exactly at nine o'clock, at which hour the formal reception was to begin. It was secretly arranged, however, that the vessel should come up to quarantine at 7:45 this morning, so that Colonel Roosevelt's immediate family should have some time with him before the public took him in charge.

A large number of excursion boats, yachts and press tugs gathered at Fire Island last night and were there when the Kaiserin hove in sight. Among the boats were the Albany, bearing the Republican Club of New York; the Nassau, carrying 300 of the Roosevelt Neighbors' Association of Oyster Bay; the Commodore, with the Hamilton Club of Chicago, and several private yachts which gave Colonel Roosevelt a noisy salute as soon as the Kaiserin was close enough for the fig-

SIDELIGHTS ON THE HOMECOMING

What Some of the Distinguished People Did and Said in New York City Today

NEW YORK, June 18.—Collector of Customs Wm. Loeb, Roosevelt's former private secretary, was the biggest man on the bay. Loeb wore the highest hat and longest coat in the parade. He made numerous trips from the Kaiserin to the Manhattan with luggage for the Roosevelt party.

As Roosevelt left the Kaiserin a white coated, white capped chef broke through the crowd and rushed toward him. Roosevelt's smile was a little wider than usual as he advanced to shake hands with the giant negro cook of the Manhattan, who was to give him breakfast. The crowd cheered the unconventional act.

Mrs. Roosevelt was attired in blue, Miss Ethel in light brown and Mrs. Longworth in black lace over a white underdress as they boarded the Manhattan. Miss Alexander, who after Monday will be Col. Roosevelt's daughter-in-law, greeted them. She wore black with an immense white lace collar. Teddy Jr., close at her side, wore a grey suit with a straw hat. Both Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt were effusive in their greetings of the young woman.

The two Abernathy boys, who rode from Oklahoma to this city to aid in welcoming Col. Roosevelt, saw the naval parades from the cutter Seneca. When they landed at the Battery their father had two horses in waiting, the same on which they made the long trip and they quickly mounted and fell in line with the escort of rough riders. The boys were loudly cheered all along the route.

For two minutes after he landed from the Androscoggin at the Battery, Col. Roosevelt was invisible to the vast crowd gathered there. He was surrounded by 129 photographers, actual count.

Mayor Gaynor "fussed" at the reporters. He had refused to prepare his welcoming speech in advance. When he was ready to deliver it he walked to the press stand and called for a stenographer to come up and copy his remarks. The modest scribes did not care to exhibit themselves, though stenographers were a plenty. "And you call this the great press of New York," fussed Gaynor. "I'm disgusted," he added. Then he spoke and the modest scribes copied his speech word for word.

During Col. Roosevelt's speech, Alice Longworth, Quentin and Ethel Roosevelt, attracted some attention by insisting that "papa" turn around so that the "Oyster Bay folks" could hear him talk.

"Papa" did as he was told.

THE POET SCOUT'S WELCOME TO "T. R."

(By Captain Jack Crawford, "Poet Scout" and ranch friend of Col. Roosevelt, written for the United Press.)

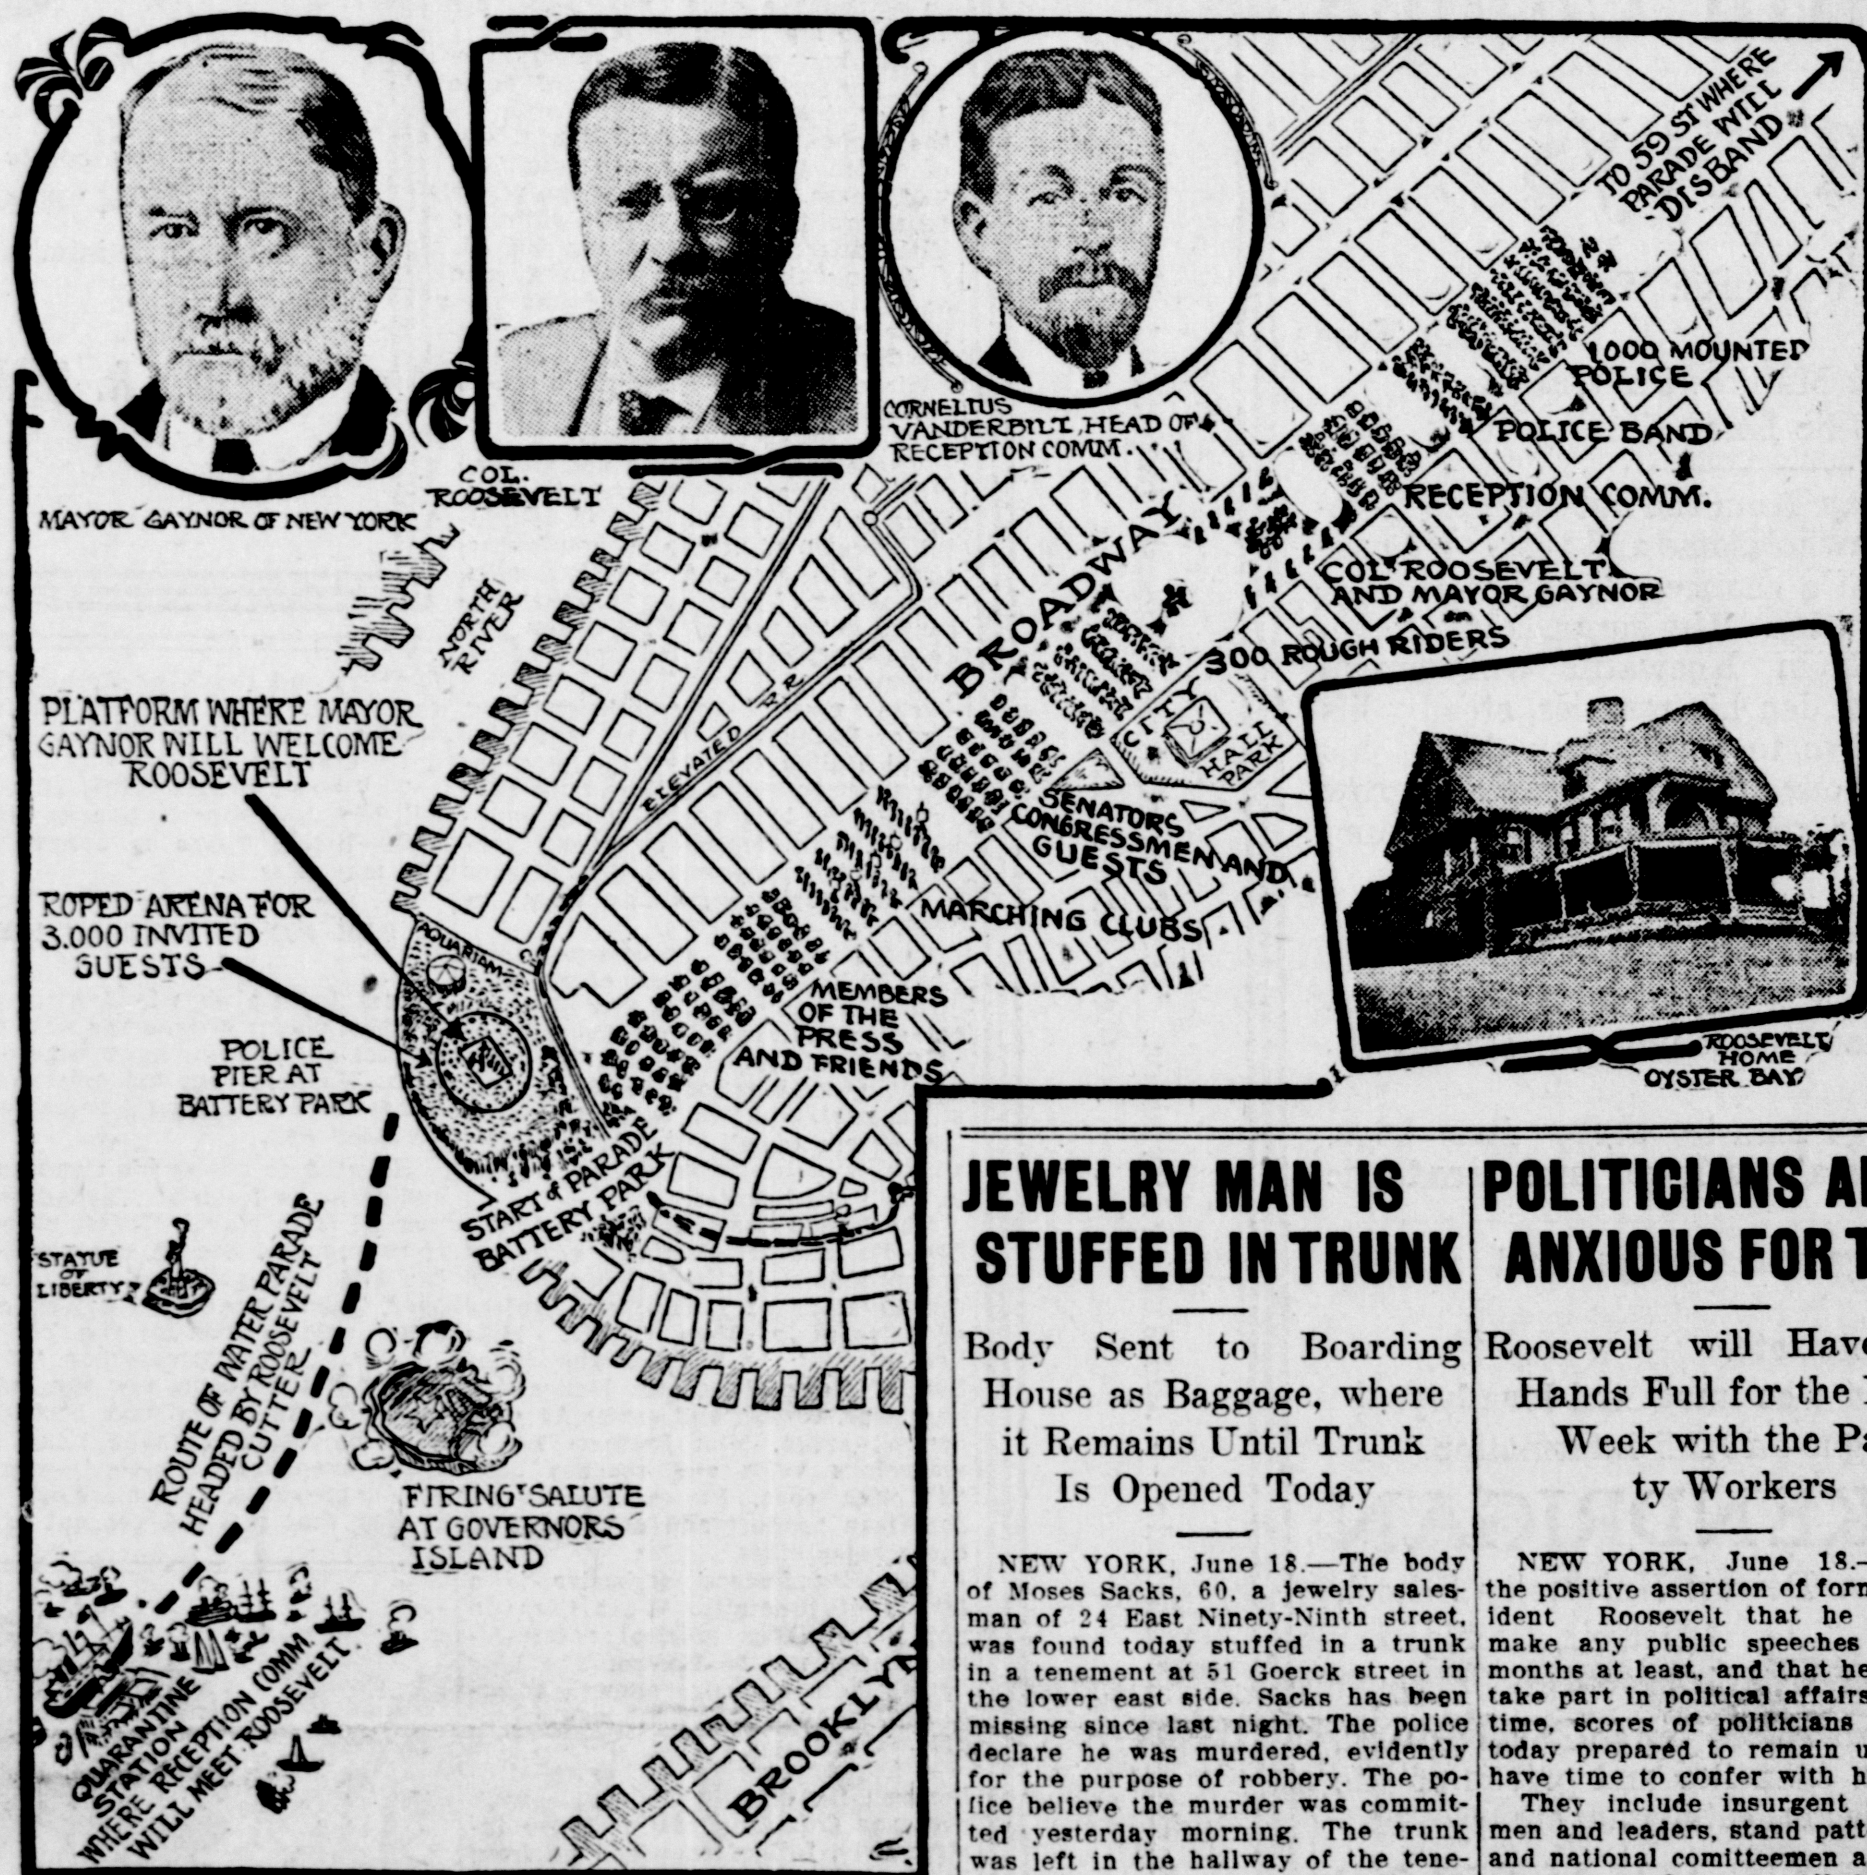

Howdy, Teddy, howdy do. How's the world bin usin' you? How'd yer strenuousness come on All the time that you've bin gone? Gee! But yer a-lookin' good! Seemed to thrive on jungle food, Or was it yer right smart bit, Huntin' makes you look so fit?

Read about yer doin's there Where the wild beasts "make their lair, Rammin' round through jungles and Trampin' over desert land Till the native niggers swore You was "it" an' then some more. Made 'em stir their stumps a few Try'n to keep in sight of you.

Read how you in strenuous way There in London made a play: One that sort o' made 'em sit Up and notice things a bit, Give a dextrous turn o' the wrist Till the lion's tail a twist Till the critter howled, an' its Keepers throwed a bunch o' fits.

Kep' close cases on you, Ted, Thru the stories that we read An' we got, I'm free to say, Proud of you every day; An' we're glad to see you back, Red an' yellor, white and black, Stretch a hand to welcome you, Howdy, Teddy, howdy do!

DETAILS OF THE RECEPTION TO COLONEL ROOSEVELT IN NEW YORK CITY

JEWELRY MAN IS STUFFED IN TRUNK

Body Sent to Boarding House as Baggage, where it Remains Until Trunk Is Opened Today

NEW YORK, June 18.—The body of Moses Sacks, 60, a jewelry salesman of 24 East Ninety-Ninth street, was found today stuffed in a trunk in a tenement at 51 Goerck street in the lower east side. Sacks has been missing since last night. The police declare he was murdered, evidently for the purpose of robbery. The police believe the murder was committed yesterday morning. The trunk was left in the hallway of the tenement at 2 p. m. yesterday. It was brand new, bound with a new manila cord. It remained in the hallway all night and a score of tenants complained that they felt over it. The janitress of the building decided at noon to open it. Curled up and so crowded into the trunk that the lid flew open when released, was the body of a man fully dressed. Scores of small leather jewelry cases rifled, were thrown in on top of the body.

Until the arrival of the coroner, it was impossible to tell how the man was slain.

REFUSED TO SHAKE ROOSEVELT'S HAND

NEW YORK, June 18.—Passengers on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, landing today, told of an incident of last Monday's reception by Col. Roosevelt to the passengers.

One woman in the line when introduced by the captain declined to shake the proffered right hand. She pointedly declared she had no desire to know Roosevelt. Later she explained that she is Mrs. Carlos R. Duque, whose husband is attached to the Panama legation at Washington. She is a granddaughter of former President Malarino of Colombia, and declared Roosevelt, while president, countenanced the revolution by which Panama separated itself from Colombia, despite the fact that the United States had a treaty to respect Colombia's territorial integrity.

Because of this "black spot on United States history," she explained, she would have nothing to do with Roosevelt. The colonel was more amused than angry over the incident.

SUFFRAGETTES TO HOLD RIVAL PARADE

CHICAGO, June 18.—Declaring a boycott against the "sane Fourth" pageant scheduled for Independence day, militant suffragettes today announced that they would prepare the greatest ever seen in this country and parade the streets of Chicago on July 2.

The "strike" against the Independence day parade was the result of an order barring "suffrage floats" from the pageant.

DELAYS OKLAHOMA CASE

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 18.—United States Judge Cotteral postponed the hearing of the application of the citizens of Guthrie for an injunction to prevent the removal of the state records to Oklahoma City until Monday, June 20. Judge Cotteral considered himself disqualified to hear the application being a property holder in Guthrie and arrangements have been made for Judge Campbell of Muskogee to be assigned to the case.

POLITICIANS ARE ANXIOUS FOR TALK

Roosevelt will Have His Hands Full for the Next Week with the Parity Workers

NEW YORK, June 18.—Despite the positive assertion of former President Roosevelt that he will not make any public speeches for two months at least, and that he will not take part in political affairs for that time, scores of politicians are here today prepared to remain until they have time to confer with him.

They include insurgent congressmen and leaders, stand patters, state and national committeemen and a new amateur performers. All have sent messages of this purport back home: "Don't do anything until you hear from me."

But the "one best bet" is that only a few of them will actually get to confer with the colonel.

He made it plain in a "wireless tip" that there would be nothing doing in the way of political conferences today. Possibly there will be on Monday but the general impression today is that it will be the middle of next week before the politicians will be able to make engagements to talk with the colonel. While some conferences are to take place at Sagamore Hill, most of them will be held here in New York in the offices the colonel uses as assistant editor of the Outlook.

The first big topic which will be brought to Roosevelt's attention will be the republican situation in New York.

ARREST JAP FOR WOMAN'S MURDER

DENVER, Col., June 18.—Chief of Police Armstrong today sent two detectives to McCook, Neb., to bring back Genkeyo Miusunga, a Japanese cook, held on suspicion of murdering Mrs. Katherine Wilson, whose mutilated body was found cramped in a packing box in her home on fashionable Capitol Hill.

Mrs. Wilson disappeared Saturday, May 7, a few hours after the Japanese whom she had employed to help her clean house appeared at her apartment. On Monday, May 9, Ridgeway Wilson, her husband, returned to town and found his wife's corpse in the packing box in their apartment. Around her neck was drawn a rag, her neck was broken and across her forehead had been cut a queer triangular wound.

TRY TO BREAK UP TOWING TRUST

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 18.—A trust busting suit against the Great Lakes Towing company and a score of subsidiary companies was filed in the federal circuit court by District Attorney Day this morning. The suit based on the Sherman anti-trust law and alleges the defendant company has a monopoly on the towing business of the great lakes. Day took a vacation after a week's conference with Attorney general Wickard, the petition was also signed by the attorney general.

WRECK SAFE IN WESTERN OFFICE

PRYOR CREEK, Okla., June 18.—Using United States mail sacks to deaden the sound of the explosion, four robbers blew the safe of the postoffice here at an early hour today and escaped with $4,000 in stamps and $15 in cash.

INQUEST ORDERED IN SHOOTING CASE

District Attorney to Ascertain Facts Regarding Frank Bauer's Death

HARRY NIEBER FIRES RIFLE

Bullet Glances from Chip in Water and Strikes Bauer in a Fatal Spot

After investigating the shooting of Frank Bauer, a button cutter, in the La Crosse river bottoms yesterday afternoon, District Attorney James Thompson ordered Coroner Leonard Kleeber to hold an inquest and learn the exact facts in the case. It is believed, however, that Bauer was accidentally killed by Harry Nieber, aged 14 years, who was shooting a 22 calibre rifle and that the bullet glanced into the bushes where Bauer was sitting, killing him.

Coroner Kleeber had the following jury drawn in the case: George Herken, W. C. Hobek, D. G. Whyte, J. F. Lang, William Collins and S. L. Burdick. The jury viewed the body of the dead man at the undertaking rooms of Tetley & Elbertson at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and then adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday morning. A post-mortem was conducted by Drs. Herman E. Wolf and J. L. Callahan who located the bullet, which was of 22-calibre, in the heart bag, among a quantity of clotted blood.

How it Happened

During the afternoon Harry Nieber and five other lads were along the banks of the La Crosse river, northeast of the pearl button works, where they were swimming and shooting a rifle. The boys shot at tin cans and other objects in the river and about 5 o'clock young Nieber took the last shell from the box and, loading the rifle, said to his companions "Here goes the last shell." He shot at a chip in the water.

Man is Shot

A few minutes later the boys heard the cries of a woman a half a block away. She called the boys, telling them that a man had been shot. Two or three of the boys went to the spot and there found a man stretched on the ground, breathing his last. His shirt had been unbuttoned and a bullet wound in his right chest, from which a small amount of blood was flowing, was all that could be seen. The boys ran for some water and threw it into the dying man's face, but nothing could be done for him.

Police Notified

A telephone message was sent to the central police station shortly after the shooting and Chief Webster and Detective McGrath and Patrolman Wendling started for the scene. Dr. Wolf happened to pass the station in his automobile just as the officers left the building and he was hailed and took the police to the scene of the shooting. When they arrived the man was dead. Dr. Wolf

MATT RUESGEN TO PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Retains Attorney who will Defend Him on the Plea that He was Insane at the Time

Matt Ruesgen, who shot and killed John H. Studier last Saturday will change his plea to not guilty and the case will be tried in the circuit court. The parents of the accused man have retained Attorney W. F. Wolfe, who will defend the prisoner on the insanity plea, alleging that at the time of the shooting Ruesgen was not responsible for his actions.

Although the prisoner pleaded guilty before Judge Brindley and was bound over to the circuit court without bail, he may change his plea at any time before appearing before Judge Higbee in the circuit court. The case will probably be tried at the September term of the circuit court.

It is said that the actions of Ruesgen, prior to the shooting, indicate that he was not in his right mind and these facts will be brought out in the trial.

NEW YORK, June 18.—With a relatively lighter volume of business than yesterday, the stock market reflected considerable heaviness today, prices declining rather sharply in some instances. The movement was extremely narrow and except for the heavy selling of the so-called Hawley stocks, which broke sharply between transactions, nothing developed in the course of the dull trading to excite comment.

But the tendency was pretty generally downward and the market throughout showed less tone than yesterday and comparatively little support.

It was a "holiday movement" throughout and so far as actual business from the outside sources was concerned, the exchange might have been closed. Declines ranging from 1-4 to 1-2 point were seen in many issues with trading restricted for the most part to a half dozen highly speculative shares.

STOP AND LOOK AND ALSO LISTEN

There Is Danger that You
May Overlook One of the Best Summer Activities
—the Chautauqua

The coming La Crosse Chautauqua may not have as many varieties of talent as Heinz has of pickles, but near it.

One thing is certain. If the person in attendance does not find very much to his liking he is hopeless.

The keen eye of Mr. Keith Vawter, the general manager of some 140 of these institutions, is ever on the lookout for likely material out of which to build a program that will please. Adaptability is the prime consideration. Cost is lost sight of if the attraction is the thing desired.

Among the headliners to appear on our programs are to be found only those who have proven themselves worthy to go before the most critical audiences and make good. No others are ever considered.

Seven Big Musicals

There are to be seven big musical attractions, a fresh organization for every day. These will furnish delightful concerts of nearly an hour's duration at the opening of each session. This policy of changing musical companies daily prevents repetition and keeps everybody on the tiptoe of expectancy.

The musical organizations are: Signor Pasquale Ferrante and his Royal Italian Guards band, a monster aggregation of artists from sunny Italy, led by a world famous bandmaster. This superb band will render two full programs and hand over to our people a genuine treat indeed.

The Kirksmith orchestra—musicians de luxe—a company of winsome girls who know all the arts of musical entertainment. The rich variety of their offerings, ranging to every possible combination, vocal and instrumental, enables them to reach the hearts of all. The lady flutist with this orchestra is without a peer in the United States.

The Misses Lee and Lathrop of the Lee-Fullenwider-Lathrop company are products of the famous Sterns Conservatory of Berlin, and finished voice under Mme. Corelli. Miss Lee received the highest commendation of Royal Professor Holleander and Mme. Corelli and ranks A1 as a concert artist. Miss Lathrop has a marvelous voice and reaches high "F" with ease. Fullenwider is an American product and a violinist of the master class.

The Fox Sisters' orchestra is a family of prodigies. What they do not know about musical entertainment need not be known. The lady entertainers are sure enough entertainers in vocal offerings and splendid readings.

A big Hungarian orchestra—filling and thrilling the people with products from the best stringed instruments, full of snap and go from the first note to the last—is here for a day. H. Ruthven MacDonald, Canada's leading baritone, with a wide range of classical and popular songs done in master style rounds out the greatest musical week ever offered by a Chautauqua management.

Popular Lectures

The lecturers and public men appearing on this program command the attention of every man who cares to think. Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, a rising star in national affairs, a progressive and forceful thinker and a recognized force at Washington—Dr. A. A. Willits, "dean of the American platform," and the most loved of the platformists—Thomas Brooks Fletcher, a veritable whirlwind of wit and oratory and a leading lyceum star—Ernest Wray Oneal an orator of first rank—a thinker who makes you think—Mattison W. Chase, who deals some sledge hammer blows to the "male-factors of great wealth"—Edward Russell Perry, famous for anti-graft campaigns in New York city—Senator Thomas P. Gore, the loved blind senator from Oklahoma and Father Patrick J. MacCorry, the eminent Paulist who, with his "Story Beautiful" richly illustrated, has the finest platform creation of the year. This array of lecture talent has never been equaled on a single program.

Classy Entertainments

When it comes to wholesome entertainment you may safely rely upon Strickland W. Gillilan. By rapid strides this versatile genius has arisen to the very top of the profession. His program is full of the choicest humor and is so dispensed that it goes home to his hearers. You will not need a key to interpret his jokes. They stand out in bold relief. The Floys are top notchers in magic and illusions. One of the things that makes this entertainment go so well is that it is the invention of Floyd himself and not a cheap imitation of another. There are no second hand and stale parts. Mahala, his wife, is a wonder in telepathy and astounds her audiences with her curious feats.

Evelyn Bargelt is the world's leading lady cartoonist and a reader of profound sympathy. Walter Eccles is a decidedly clever all around entertainer appearing with the big band. He knows how and has the ability to show the skeptical.

These features, together with the morning hour lectures by Mott R.

Tonight at La Crosse Theater each lady attending Dr. Flint's Entertainment will be presented with a beautiful Silver Souvenir Tea Spoon.

Wingold

THE FINEST FLOUR IN THE WORLD

The capacity of the "WINGOLD" mill is 3,500 barrels daily, but the capacity of "WINGOLD" FLOUR for making friends is illimitable because its quality is inimitable.

A. GRAMS & SONS, MORNING STAR MILLS,

Sawyers and the King Arthur Court for the children, furnish the finest week's diversion and inspirational uplift ever brought this way.

The week begins June 28th and will be full of superb chances. Stop—look—listen. There is danger that you may miss it.

SAM JONES' SAGE ADVICE

Sam Jones always lauded travel as the best means of securing wide sympathies and popular knowledge of affairs. He held that the culture that comes from travel could be gained in no other way.

He used to advise his Chautauqua audiences as follows: "My advice to you all is to travel. Travel as widely as you can. See all the world you can and then go home and think it over. This is the way I got my start and it will be good for you."

"But," he would conclude, "if you have not the means nor the leisure to travel, then the next best thing is to buy a Chautauqua ticket and come here to hear somebody who has been somewhere. This is the only other way that you can get out of the rut, or keep out when you get out." We present this here as a gentle hint to our people in view of the fact that the La Crosse Chautauqua opens on June 28th for a seven days' stand. The people who "have been somewhere" will be there.

THE CRIPPLES' MARCH

An excruciatingly funny result achieved by Dr. Herbert L. Flint with his hypnotized subjects is the cripples' march, as it is called. As large a number of susceptible subjects as can be found are seated upon chairs at the back of the stage and one by one they are drawn forward by an irresistible influence and started to marching about the stage to the tune of a stirring martial march. After they are all marching, they are put through a silent drill, and Dr. Flint with a gesture, secures formations and intricacies of marching and drilling that military captains are proud to achieve by long and tiresome practice. All this is amazing and astounding, but something more follows, when Dr. Flint passes his hand over the bodies of the marchers and turns them into cripples. After this they will keep on marching in the ludicrous distorted positions that they have assumed. The scene closes with a drill of an awkward and crippled squad and the close of the scene leaves the audience wishing that it could see the same thing for an hour longer. At the La Crosse theater tonight and balance of this week up to and including Sunday night next.

The Sunshine society is said to be responsible for the free emergency hospital which is being built at St. Petersburg, Fla. It will be under the direction of a board of trustees, with a woman's auxiliary. It is to care for cases calling for quick relief and cases of destitution.

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

THE CASE IN SUMMARY

We are indebted to Collier's National Magazine for the following concise summary of the Ballinger case:

"Glavis was an obscure young government employee; he addressed a formal communication to the president of the United States, charging that his superior, Mr. Ballinger, was expediting the transfer of valuable lands to the Guggenheims. Taft read the charges. He consulted Ballinger and Wickersham. Then he flipped Glavis off like a fly from his sleeve; to Ballinger he gave that ponderous, sweeping letter of exculpation and endorsement, intended to be a permanent seal of sanctity, to refute all present charges against Ballinger and make future ones impossible—such a document as a man hands down to his grandchildren. (This was on September 13—bear the day in mind, for in disentangling the truth from this mass of suppression and evasion, exact dates are important.)

"Then Taft went his august way among the people, on that two months' journey of defense and glorification of Aldrich, Tawney, and the tariff. By every law, the Ballinger episode was finished, settled, closed. Glavis ought to have crawled off to his quiet corner in obscurity; but the injustice done him found him powerful friends; his side of the case was presented to the public; the wheels that would finally grind out the truth were slowly beginning to revolve; the people refused to accept the president's word; finally congress met, and on a day in December the senate passed a resolution calling upon the president to furnish to the senate these things (Mark well the capitalized words):

"ANY REPORTS, STATEMENTS, PAPERS, OR DOCUMENTS UPON WHICH HE ACTED IN REACHING HIS CONCLUSIONS."

"Now this requisition from the senate laid a heavy and embarrassing duty upon the attorney-general of the United States, for it was he upon whom the president had relied for a review of the charges against Glavis. The president, when, on September 13, he wrote the letter exculpating Ballinger, did have before him SOME reports, statements, papers, and documents," which he acted upon in reaching his conclusions. But, looking backward after three months, Ballinger and

THE TEST OF MERIT

La Crosse People Are Given Convincing Proof.

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a La Crosse resident who has been cured and has stayed cured?

Read the following:

H. B. Lowry, 508 N. Ninth St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "I think kidney trouble in my case was brought on by a heavy cold which I contracted. I suffered a great deal from a lame and aching back and pains in my head and also had attacks of dizziness. I was never laid up but was so badly run down in health that I could hardly do my work. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and I was in a bad way when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Erhart and Son's Drug Store. They cured me and I have not had a return attack of kidney trouble for several years."

ed Eleventh Story league is calling itself, "The State Central Committee." The attorney general says this is illegal. The situation suggests an injunction.

The insurgents have shorn the committee on rules of its power to block the consideration of any bill it chooses. The dropping of the water on the stone continues.

Representative Link has repudiated his confession in regard to the alleged Lorimer bribery. Thus an important Link in the state's chain of evidence is lost.

Nat Goodwin denies the rumor that he is "single again." We are willing to take his word for it rather than attempt the confusing task of keeping track.

The question has arisen as to whether Col. Roosevelt must pay duty on his elephant tusks. There is also the question of tariff on dental supplies.

There are trained athletes, who by the exertion of great strength which leaves them exhausted and worked up to the highest point of human endurance, are able to support upon their bodies three or four hundred pounds' weight, but Dr. Herbert L. The young man lies calmly and peacefully upon the backs of two chairs not a drop of perspiration upon his forehead, his heart beat light and his respiration only twelve or fourteen times to the minute, while above him is that crushing weight of human flesh. This is a test that has been presented by Dr. Flint several times a week for the past thirty-two years, and no one else has ever been able to find a man who could successfully duplicate the

NEW BILL AT MAJESTIC

Patrons of the Majestic theater next week will have the opportunity of hearing one of the best comedy knock about quartettes in the vaudeville business today when the Broadway Comedy Quartette renders their popular songs.

This quartette is heralded as one of the best that vaudeville today can produce which is saying a good deal. The organization is composed of four men with well balanced voices, who render the latest ballads, which start your feet beating time on the floor of the theater. Besides singing they intersperse comedy that is laughable.

Yberri, the spectacular danseuse and Louise Taylor, soprano soloist, will be one of the best acts on the program. As a dancer, Yberri has few equals in vaudeville. She makes a specialty of folk dances and will portray many of them. It is a high class singing and dancing novelty, which is well staged and handsomely costumed. Miss Taylor is an educated singer, one whose songs will be a delight to the musical portion of the audience. Yberri will be seen in the dance of the U. S. A., an equestrian novelty of striking origin; the Spanish dance, suggesting the fire and the passion of the south; the Oriental dance, a new arrangement full of alluring suggestion but wholly pure and inoffensive and in the French dance, a whirlwind melange of high kicking and posturing. The act should be the hit of the show.

Callahan and Cain will appear in a little playlet entitled, "Dad's Dream." The act takes about a quarter of an hour and is a wholesome and refreshing sketch to witness. It is an inspiring story, true to nature with plenty of comedy. The act carries special scenery and electrical effects.

Miss Beth Densmore, high class instrumentalist will present a musical novelty which is said to be a hummer. She has been the hit of an excellent bill at Milwaukee this week.

Miss Ida Aiken will render another popular ballad with pictures.

HOW CHAMPIONSHIPS ARE WON AND LOST

A timely moving picture by James J. Corbett, who is training James J. Jeffries the last month, before the big fight July 4th.

Jim Corbett, the past master of the art of self defense, with the assistance of Tom Kennedy, the celebrated heavyweight, illustrates how different championships were won and lost by Mitchell, Sullivan, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Sharkey and all great champions of the age, including his own renowned victories and defeats. In a three round exhibition bout, they utilize every blow known to the generals of the ring, clean breakaways, hitting in the break-aways and hitting in the clinches.

To make this picture interesting to the lady patrons of motion pictures, "Gentleman Jim" introduces Miss Florence Turner, known as "The Vitagraph Girl," the most popular actress in silent drama today, showing her how to use the 100 lb. punching bag, and introducing "shadow boxing," for which he is so justly celebrated, as it is acknowledged Corbett is the fastest man on his feet in the world. You can't go wrong in witnessing this series of pictures, as there is nothing offensive and we cordially invite our lady and children patrons.

At the Lyric theater, the "coolest spot in La Crosse," Monday and Tuesday, June 20 and 21.

After the baron was gone the chancellor paced the room with halting steps. Then, toward the wraith of his ambition he waved a hand as if to explain how futile are the schemes of men. He shook himself free from this idle moment and proceeded to the apartments of her highness. Would she toss aside this crown, or would she fight for it? He found her alone.

"Well, my good fairy, what is in your magic wand tonight?" she asked. How fond she was of this great man, and how lonely he always seemed!

He saluted her hand respectfully. "I am not a good fairy tonight, your highness. On the contrary, I am an ogre. I have here a letter. I have given my word that its contents shall not be repeated to the duke, your father. If I let you read it, will you agree to that?"

"And who has written this letter?" "Non-committally.

"His majesty, the king of Jugend-heit," slowly.

"A letter from the king?" she cried, curious. "Should it not be brought to me on a golden salver?"

"It is probable that I am bringing it to you at the end—of a layonet," solemnly. "If the duke learns its contents the inevitable result will be war."

A silence fell upon them and grew. This was the bitterest moment but one in the chancellor's life.

"I believe," she said finally, "that it will not be necessary to read his majesty's letter. He declines the honor of my hand; is that not it?" The chancellor signified that it was.

"Ah!" with a note of pride in her voice and a flash in her eyes. "And I?"

"You will tell the duke that you have changed your mind," gravely. "Do princesses change their minds like this?"

"They have often done so."

"In spite of publicity?"

"Yes, your highness."

"And if I refuse to change my mind?"

"I am resigned to any and all events."

"War." Her face was serious. "And what has the king to suggest?"

"He proposes to accept the humiliation of being rejected by you."

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that whenever eight per cent. of all women created by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

"Why, this is a gallant king; Puff! There goes a crown of thistle-down." She smiled at the chancellor, then she laughed. There was nothing but youth in the laughter, youth and gladness. "Oh, I knew that you were a good fairy. Listen to me. I declare to you that I am happier at this moment than I have been in days. To marry a man I have never seen, to become the wife of a man who is nothing to me, whose looks, character and habits are unknown; why, I have lived in a kind of terror. You did not find me soon enough; there are yet some popular ideas in my head which are alien to the minds of princesses. I am free!" And she uttered the words as with the breath of spring.

The chancellor's shoulders drooped a trifle more, and his hand closed down over the letter. Otherwise there was no notable change in his appearance. He was always guarding the muscles of his face. Inscrutability is the first lesson of the diplomat; and he had learned it thirty years before.

"There will be no war," resumed her highness. "I know my father; our wills may clash, but in this instance mine shall be the stronger."

"But this is not the end."

"You mean that there will be other kings?" She had not thought of this, and some of the brightness vanished from her face.

"Yes, there will be other kings. I am sorry. What young girl has not her dream of romance? But princesses must have romances. Yours, my child, must be a political marriage. It is a harsh decree."

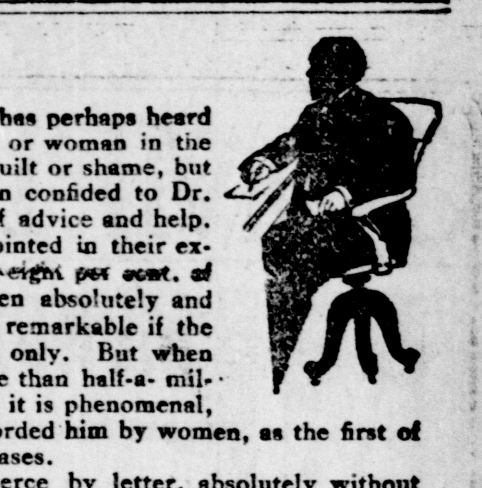

"Have not princesses married commoners?"

"Never wisely. Your highness will not make a mistake like that."

"My highness will or will not marry, as she pleases. Am I a chattel, that I am to be offered across this frontier or that?"

The chancellor moved uneasily. "If your highness loved out of your class, which I know you do not, I should be worried."

"And if I did?" with a rebel tilt to her chin.

"Till that moment arrives I shall not borrow trouble. You will, then, tell the duke that you have changed your mind, that you have reconsidered?"

"This evening. Now, godfather, you may kiss her serene highness on the forehead."

"This honor to me?" The chancellor trembled.

"Even so."

He did not touch her with his hands, but the kiss he put on her forehead was a benediction.

"You may go now," she said, "for I shall need the whole room to dance in. I am free, if only for a little while!"

Outside the door the chancellor paused. She was singing. It was the same aria he had heard that memorable night when he found her in the dim garret.

CHAPTER IX.
Gretchen's Day.

Gretchen was always up when the morning was rosy, when the trees were still dark and motionless, and the beads of dew white and frost-like. For what is better than to meet the day as it comes over the mountains, and silence breaks here and there, in the houses and streets, in the fields and the vineyards? Let old age, which has played its part and taken to the wings of the stage, let old age loiter in the morning, but not green years. Gretchen awoke as the birds awoke, with snatches and little trills of song. To her nearest neighbors there was about her that which reminded them of the regularity of a good clock; when they heard her voice they knew it was time to get up.

She was always busy in the morning. The tinkle of the bell outside brought her to the door, and her two goats came pattering in to be relieved of their creamy burden. Gretchen was fond of them; they needed no care at all. The moment she had milked them they went tinkling off to the steep pastures.

Are You Getting What Is Due You?

Among Investment Securities Generally Recognized as Conservative, the 8% Stock of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company Stands at the Very Top

Why are certain securities on the Stock Exchange List regarded as conservative for investment purposes?

Because they give the highest returns possible consistent with safety to the investor.

In any investment there are two things to consider—the rate of interest and the degree of safety. Generally speaking, the lower the rate of interest the higher the degree of safety, and vice versa.

Beyond a certain point in returns, investing ends and speculating begins. Investing assures reasonable profit—with minimum risk. Speculating promises larger profits—but entails greater risk.

If you cannot afford to lose, you will do well to choose for investment those securities whose perfect combination of profit and safety entitle them to be classed as "conservative."

Charley Novak's Outfit Is Damaged by Street Car No. 42 This Morning

Street car No. 42, south bound, struck the wagon of Charley Novak of the town of Campbell at 10:45 o'clock this morning damaging the outfit considerably. No one was hurt and the horses were uninjured.

When the car approached the horses seemed to become frightened and backed into the approaching car. The wagon was knocked over towards the walk the rear of it being broken.

BIG FLYERS TO BE IN MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, June 18.—The Twin city aviation meet at the Minnesota State Fair grounds next week will be the occasion for both St. Paul and Minneapolis to be arrayed in gala attire. With the news that "Bud" Mars is to come to the meet with a brand new Curtis model ship, direct from the east, and that Harmon, the millionaire aviator will probably be joined by Capt. Thomas Baldwin at Minnesota, from which place the latter expects to bring a new aeroplane with a fifty horse power motor, the Twin cities are on the tiptoe of expectation.

Local automobile men, also, are indulging in considerable speculation on the outcome of the Oldfield and Kischler races, as well as the stock race between the Marmon and Buick cars.

In view of the fact that a number of big conventions are to be held in Minneapolis and St. Paul next week, it has been practically decided that there will be special illuminations in both cities. The merchants of Minneapolis also look with favor upon a scheme for making one day of the meet a Minneapolis day, and it is probable that many of them will close their stores for a half day to allow their employees to attend the big speed carnival at the fair grounds. St. Paul merchants will be approached in regard to a similar day for St. Paul, and it is possible that a half holiday will be given there also.

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen will hold their memorial day services Sunday, June 19. They will meet at the hall at 2:30 and if the weather is favorable will go in a body to the cemetery and hold services over the grave of Clara Johnson, the last deceased member. Rev. Panzlau will deliver the address and offer benediction. Several selections will be rendered by the Wesley quartet. In case of inclement weather services will be held in the hall.

The Yeomen will hold their next regular meeting in Nicholson-Scott hall Thursday evening. After the business meeting there will be dancing.

The Rowena circle, B. A. Y. gave another of their popular card parties and dances Thursday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Geisenheimer, Max Lovitzke, Mrs. Hatz and Mr. Ehrsam.

The circle will hold its next regular meeting in the hall Thursday afternoon.

The Yeomen picnic given at Spring Grove Wednesday was largely attended. All sorts of amusements were held on Main street. An automobile parade headed by the Wilmington band of 28 pieces and an elegant Yeomen float was a great attraction. Rev. Lowe of La Crosse gave one of the best fraternal addresses ever given in Spring Grove. The ball game between Caledonia and Spring Grove at 3:30 was won by the former by a score of 2 to 4. The affair wound up with a dance in the large hall which was packed. Music was furnished by the Caledonia orchestra.

WOMAN CAMPAIGNS FROM AEROPLANE

MOURELON, June 18. — Mile. Mauringt, young and particularly prepossessing in appearance, plans to agitate for women's suffrage by up-to-date methods. She is the second woman to receive an aviator's license from the Aero club of France, and announces that she will make flights in as many places in France as possible within the next few months.

Her aeroplane will be decorated with the suffragette colors and bear a large inscription advocating "votes for women." On each flight she will take up with her suffrage literature which she will throw into the air while her machine is in motion.

Odd Job for Carpenters.

"What do you think of this for a specialty?" said a man who knows the ins and outs of Long Acre square. "There are carpenter shops in this neighborhood where the chief source of income is boxing chorus girls' hats. It's become pretty much of an industry since the hats grew so large that they couldn't be tucked into trunks. The girls when they were about to start on the road used to drift into express offices with bandboxes under their arms and ask to have them shipped just as they were. But the express companies can't accept packages so flimsily hung together. The agent would direct the girl to a nearby carpenter shop to have the box crated and that's how the business grew. Oh, the carpenters get about 50 cents a job and in the course of a week those half-dollars make quite a neat pile."—New York Sun.

Flour From Beets.

A Belgian farmer announced some time ago that he had invented a process by which beets could be ground into flour, but there is nothing to show up to this time that he has been able to put it into practical application. He said that the beet flour made excellent feed for horses and cattle and that it had also proved highly successful for making fine pastry.

According to one report it was said that large beet growers not only in Belgium, but in certain districts of Germany, were preparing to open mills for the grinding of beet into flour. So far as can be learned the process is a well-guarded secret.

Kelly Has Reached London.

For 3 hours and 59 minutes and 45 seconds Prof. L. L. Dee had been lecturing upon the burning questions affecting political economy.

"And now," he concluded, glancing at his chronometer, "I should just like one of the students to state concisely what he considers to be the greatest question at present occupying the minds of men in this country."

From a far corner of the auditorium, cutting the proverbial hush like the proverbial knife, came the response, clear and concise:

"Has any one here seen Kelly?"—Answers.

Indian Dandruff Remedy

Entirely Unlike All Others—Free from Alcohol

Indian Shampoo
That is one great reason for its universal success. More than that—it is the only Natural treatment for all hair troubles, because it contains the Essence of Herbs, which start the natural flow of oils in the hair and stimulates the hair follicles to life and health. Other hair tonics are full of alcohol, which not only stunts the growth but removes the natural oil on which the life of the hair depends. Indian Dandruff Remedy contains only one-half of one per cent of alcohol and no artificial oils or chemicals. It is absolutely harmless and an unfailing remedy for dandruff, dead, dull, split, gray and falling hair. Its clean, antiseptic odor and delightful feeling to the user cannot be had in any other preparation. A short trial will show astonishing results.

FINE AUDIENCE SEES GLASS PLAY

High School Students Surprise Visitors with Display of Talent

"Between the Acts," the senior class play given in the high school auditorium last night, was a big success, and a large audience, which filled all parts of the house, witnessed one of the best amateur plays ever seen in this city. All of the players took their parts exceptionally well, no prompting was necessary, and fine talent was shown. Mrs. Ross, who coached the cast, deserves much credit for the manner in which she drilled them, as there was not a hitch in the entire performance.

Herbert Moss, who took the part of Dick Comfort, married, yet single took a difficult part well, and did good work trying to hide the fact that he was married, when he had been known, would have cut off his allowance. Norman Kelley took the part of Geo. Merrick, an unfriendly friend, and proved capable as a humorous character. Dick's uncle, which was played by Oscar Swenne, was also a feature, and altogether with Wm. Crosby, the man servant, these four succeeded in getting into some extremely funny situations. Helen Anderson, as Mrs. Meander, Dick's aunt, proved herself capable of taking a difficult part, and Carol Cotton, as Dick's wife, did well in the trying situations in which she was placed by Dick's constant efforts to hide the fact that he was married. Stella Sheeley, as Mrs. Meander's maid, made a big hit with the audience.

AN APPRECIATION

ON THE EVE of my departure from La Crosse, among whose citizens it has been to me a source of pride to be enrolled, I desire to thank this public for the patronage it has so liberally accorded me. The many friendships attained and the cheerful confidence with which I was welcomed to the community of which I had hoped to remain a citizen, brings to me a distinct feeling of regret at my enforced departure to a new field in answer to the call of a more lucrative enterprise. I feel, however, one source of satisfaction. It is that the store in which I have taken so much pride has fallen into excellent hands, and my parting word to my patrons is an urgent suggestion that they give their future patronage to Mr. F. A. Reiman, of the Fashion Shop, in whose integrity, good taste and liberality I have acquired the utmost confidence.

Cordially,

Mrs. Blitz—Oh, it's just too lovely for anything. Where did you get it, and what is it worth per ounce?

Mrs. Blatz—It sells at $1.00 per ounce and you can get it only at Mr. Reyschlag's drug store, 503 Main street, as he has the sole agency for La Crosse.

THE PRAYER OF THE HORSE

(Miss Nettie Sabelwitz, an active worker in Humane Endeavors, furnishes the following issued by the American Humane Society.)

To thee, my master, I offer my prayer:
Feed, water, and care for me; and when the day's work is done, provide me with shelter and a clean, dry bed.

Always be kind to me. Pet me sometimes that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you. Do not jerk the reins and do not whip me when going up the hill. Never strike, kick or beat me when I do not understand what you want but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet.

Do not overload me or hitch me where water will drip on me. Keep me well shod. Examine my teeth when I do not eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth and that you know is very painful. Do not tie or check my head in an unnatural position or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitoes, by cutting off my mane or tail.

I cannot tell you when I am thirsty, so give me clean, cool water often. I cannot tell you in words when I am sick, so watch me, and by signs, you may know my condition. Give me all possible shelter from the hot sun, and put a blanket on me, not when I am working, but when I am standing in the cold. Never put a frosty bit in my mouth; first warm it by holding it a moment in your hands.

I try to carry you and your burdens without a murmur and wait patiently for you long hours of the day or night, without one power to choose my shoes, or path, I sometimes fall on the hard pavements and I must be ready at any moment to lose my life in your service.

And finally, O my Master, when my useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze or sell me to some human brute, to be slowly tortured and starved to death, but do thou, my master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you here and hereafter.

NO RAIN IN SIGHTTemperature at Noon Today
Is 91, but it Becomes Cooler During the Afternoon

Today has been another hot day, but the temperature has not been as high as it was yesterday. This morning it was thought that a storm would visit the city. The sky in the southwest darkened and the rumbling of thunder was heard, but it soon disappeared and the heat was as intense as ever. The forecast for tomorrow is continued fair weather and no decided change in temperature.

Two More Die in Chicago
CHICAGO, June 15.—Two deaths from heat were reported early today, making a total of eight dead since the heat wave struck Chicago 10 days ago, but just before noon a thunderstorm blew up from the lake and relieved the suffering city.

made a hurried examination and decided that the bullet severed one of the arteries of the heart and that death was caused from internal bleeding. The body was then taken to the undertaking rooms.

Lad Grief Stricken

Young Nieber, who is the son of Henry Nieber, residing at 728 State street, was grief stricken when he was informed by his boy companions that he had killed a man. While the other boys went to the place where the man had been shot, Nieber remained at the railroad tracks and later started toward home. He failed to arrive at his home until after dark, having been back of the school house, corner of Sixth and Vine streets, where he was found crying, by his brother Otto. The lad between sobs, said that he did not know there was anyone in the bushes and that all the time they were along the banks of the river during the afternoon they did not see anyone in that direction. The boy was later accompanied to the police station by his brother and remained at the station over night. The lad purchased the rifle and a box of cartridges for $1.50 last Friday.

Boys Tell Same Story

This morning Chief Webber had all the boys who were with the Nieber boy, call at the police station and tell the story as they know it. In every case the boys told practically the same story, saying that they did not see anyone in that vicinity and that they did not know that there was anyone in the bushes where Bauer was sitting. The boys with Nieber were Otto Nieber, Arthur Panke, Frank Boardman, Will Bolan, Joseph Buckner and Samuel Goldish.

Bauer a Married Man

Frank Bauer, the victim of the shooting, was married. Chief Webber last evening notified Ed. Bauer, brother of the dead man, who resides at Prairie du Chien, and the latter reached the city this morning and will take charge of the remains. The body will be taken to Prairie du Chien for interment.

ure of the returning hunter to be discerned. The Kaiserin did not slow down, but continued to quarantine, where she anchored promptly at 7:45, while the health officers went on board. No one was allowed to board the liner until she had been formally inspected and given her health clearance papers.

As the Kaiserin passed through the narrows at quarantine, she was received with a 21 gun salute from Fort Wadsworth reservation. The big liner broke out signal flags and national emblems from every mast while long lines of them reached her decks. The lofty heights of Fort Wadsworth were manned with coast artillerymen, who gave cheer after cheer as the vessel passed.

Typical Pandemonium

The harbor joined in with tooting whistles and soon created an old time New York Bay pandemonium.

The instant the Kaiserin halted before quarantine, Health Officer Mr. Doty and three deputies boarded and inspected the 1,389 emigrants.

As soon as the health officers passed the ship, a launch darted alongside and Captain Archibald Butt, President Taft's aide, together with Secretary Wilson, Senator Lodge and Nicholas Longworth came over the side and greeted the former president, who still held in his hand an embossed set of resolutions from the Pilots' Union, which had been handed him by the pilot who boarded the ship off Sandy Hook and brought her up to quarantine.

At five o'clock, just about daybreak, the revenue cutter Manhattan which had been placed at the disposal of the Roosevelt family by Collector of Customs William Loeb, Jr., Colonel Roosevelt's former secretary, made her way to quarantine and was hove to there when the liner anchored. On board the Manhattan were only the immediate Roosevelt family, including Rear Admiral W. S. Cowles (retired) and Mrs. Cowles, the latter Mrs. Roosevelt's sister; W. S. Cowles, Jr., Douglas Robinson and wife, the latter the sister of Colonel Roosevelt; T. Douglas Robinson and wife; Monroe D. Robinson, R. D. Roosevelt and wife, G. Hall Roosevelt, J. W. Alsop and wife, the latter Mrs. Roosevelt's niece; Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and his fiancée, Miss Eleanor B. Alexander and her mother Mrs. H. A. Alexander; Archibald B. ## Comes in Frock Coat

When the Manhattan went alongside, Col. Roosevelt, attired in a frock coat and wearing a tall hat, was standing on the bridge of the Kaiserin with Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Kermit. Grouped about the liner were the battleship South Carolina and torpedo boats.

The Roosevelts left the Kaiserin from the forward starboard gangway and stepped to the deck of the Manhattan. The ex-president was given a tremendous ovation from the surrounding craft and the band from the battleship struck up the "Star Spangled Banner," while Col. Roosevelt lifted his hat in salute.

Among the passengers of the Kaiserin who had Col. Roosevelt goodbye were Mrs. Speck Von Sternberg, wife of the deceased former German ambassador to the United States, an intimate friend of Roosevelt family; Mrs. E. Vanderbilt, Count Margot Beroldingen, Major C. H. Searing, M. C. Thaw and Mrs. G. Vanderbilt.

The transfer was completed by eight o'clock and the Manhattan steamed up and down in the Narrows while the Roosevelt party breakfasted.

The Naval Parade

While the Roosevelt party was thus engaged the naval flotilla that was to act as escort gathered. The vessels, 300 in number, were divided into twelve divisions, each commanded by a vice-commodore, all under the general command of Commodore Fred R. Dazell, on board the tug Dalzelline. The first and second divisions consisted of steamships and steam boats, each laden to the gunwales with cheering thousands who almost fought for advantage points from which to get the first glimpse of the returning nimrod. The ships and boats were all brilliantly decorated and presented a splendid sight as they stretched in two long lines 200 feet apart back to the Robbins Reef light house on Kill van Kull. The third division to the rear, was composed of private yachts a large number of which, flying signal flags from every peak, greeted the former president. Behind the yachts lay the tugs, steamers, launches and small craft, the entire line being several miles in length.

Distinguished People There

At 7:45 o'clock the revenue cutter Androskogin had left the Battery for quarantine, carrying the Roosevelt reception committee, of which Cornelius Vanderbilt was chairman. Among those on board the Androskogin were Chairman Vanderbilt, William Loeb, Jr., Judge E. H. Cary, of the steel trust; John Hays Hammond, Lewis Nixon, the ship builder; Herman A. Metz, former Controller of the city of New York; Levi P. Morton, J. Bronson Reynolds, a member of Col. Roosevelt's famous "tennis cabinet," Judge J. W. The Androskogin was accompanied by the revenue cutters Mohawk, loaded with congressmen, senators, governors and cabinet officers, and the Seneca, which Collector Loeb had turned over to out-of-town newspaper men.

Promptly at nine o'clock the Androskogin went alongside the Manhattan at quarantine and Col. Roosevelt and the newspaper men were removed. Mrs. Roosevelt and the remainder of the Roosevelt family remained on the Manhattan.

The Autobiography of DIAZ, the DICTATOR

Everything has two sides—from a coin to a controversy. Porfirio Diaz, the President-Dictator of Mexico, for years has been criticised, condemned, vilified, burned in effigy by those who hate him — and he has kept a dignified silence.

And there are two sides to the question of which Diaz is the central figure. His long, active life has been crowded with dramatic action, the narrative of which is as thrilling as the most fascinating adventure and intrigue story ever written.

Now Diaz has broken silence regarding the attacks on him and his motives. He has written his autobiography for the Cosmopolitan Magazine—written it as only a man who feels every word tells a story.

If you want to know the true story of Mexico, which has developed from a wilderness of half savages to an intelligent, industrious republic, you want to read the "other side" of this Diaz controversy written by the principal actor in the drama of Mexico—by Diaz himself.

TO BOOST PRICE TO GOVERNMENT

CHICAGO, June 17.—Rate compromises with the packers and discussion of a plan to turn over to the government all of the railroads in the country are reported today to have been the object of secret conferences held by Geo. W. Perkins, right hand man of J. P. Morgan and Company during his brief visit here. Perkins spent part of yesterday in close conference with the heads of western railroads and the rest of the time he was closeted with representatives of the big packing concerns. He left for New York last night. With the packers it is reported he discussed the proposed rate increase of the railroads and reached a compromise which will forestall protests from them when the new schedule is filed with the interstate commerce commission. The recent prediction of President Ripley of the Santa Fe that the government would soon take over the railroads lends color to the report that Perkins and the western magnates discussed a plan looking toward that end. The railroad magnates contend at present their lines are not capitalized to their full value and according to the report a series of conferences will be held for the purpose of agreeing upon an increased capitalization to be used as a basis in the proposed offer of sale to the government.

THE VALUE OF THE GARDEN

By LOUIS SHERWIN

AND

EVEN SMALLEST OF YARDS CAN BE A MASS OF BLOOMS

Architecture of the Home Should be Considered in Planning Arrangement of the Garden—Study the Surrounding Landscape

It seems rather a pity that gardening, in spite of all advantages of climate, fertile ground and the undisputed mechanical supremacy of Americans, should still linger so long in its infancy throughout this country. This statement probably will be met with thousands of indignant denials and pictures culled from magazines showing country and suburban houses with most beautiful and elaborate gardens, with statistics from horticultural societies and accounts of flower shows. Nevertheless the statement is true. Not as regards the sumptuous villa residences of the wealthy or even the moderately well to do, but the great mass of people living on modest or small incomes have entirely neglected their opportunities in this direction.

This fact is brought home with especial force when an American goes abroad and sees some of the homes of the lower middle classes in Europe. There one will find people who pay a rental of not more than $50 or $100 a year and who have not much more than ten square feet of ground in their houses, but with their tiny plots a mass of blooms. In America, on the other hand, nobody attempts to have anything but a skimpy spot of green lawn in front of the house unless the income is considerably over $3,000 a year.

Large Plot Not Necessary.

In order to have a garden it is not necessary to have a large plot of ground. Nor is it necessary to spend much money. Time, of course, it requires, and work and patience. All of which will be repaid two-fold. First of all, the reward will be in the enhanced appearance of the home and the increased happiness and fitness of its inhabitants in better looking surroundings. The psychological effect of the surroundings on character is a long established fact and no more a mere theory. And in the second place, gardening will improve one's the household. To the younger members of the family the value of the garden is inestimable. It gives them an engrossing occupation, stimulates increased interest in the home and teaches them something of achievement. Nothing is a better developer of young character than to allot to each child a certain portion of the garden. Each then takes pride in accomplishing his or her utmost and showing the best results. By way of incentive, it is a good scheme to offer a prize to the one who does best.

One way to start a garden is just to begin to grow flowers and learn painfully and slowly by the mistakes made. This is a disheartening process and may discourage any but the most enthusiastic. But few people will try this method. Nobody will commence without at least asking questions as to the time to plant and the best methods of cultivation.

Exterior Decorating.

Planting the garden should primarily be regarded as a means of enhancing the exterior of the house. And in doing this the house itself, its architectural style, size and surroundings should or rather must be taken into consideration or weird and incongruous results will follow. For instance, what could be more absurd than a large and elaborate archway, suitable to a big Colonial mansion, in front of a small suburban cottage? Or grandiose, park-like effects attempted in a small square of ground barely a quarter of an acre in area?

The prime general maxim to remember is: "Plant a garden along the lines of least resistance." Keep the entrance in scale and also the paths. Consider which is the best view and then put your shrubs so as to attract attention in that direction. Some views are too panoramic so that the good points of a house are overlooked. Screen all unsightly objects with fast-growing trees and shrubs as, for instance, willows, Lombardy

Different Soils.

Study the nature of your soil. Rocky ground requires special kinds of plants, though not necessarily alpine, as these again need a particular kind there is no mystery whatever in it. Nine-tenths of the difficulty consist in care and work. Nor does it require more work than the average person with the average amount of duties can of money at a time. Appropriate at the outset the total sum you can afford, then lay it out judiciously in as much of the best seeds that it will procure for you.

An Example of What Can be Done With a Small Garden. Note How the Placing of the Trees and the Iris Border Along the Curving Driveway Give Perspective and the Illusion of Space.

of atmosphere and favor high altitudes. For marshy ground use orchids, pitcher plants, iris and ferns. If your soil is very marshy it may be suitable for a water garden, which can be built frequently at a very small outlay.

Boundaries should be informal unless you have a large expanse. For these native flowering shrubs, such as dogwood, sumach, salt tree or sorrel, will be suitable.

If you can't afford to spend much for shrubs, deciduous trees will be found less expensive than evergreens. Of the former, the best are the Japanese barberry, the winterberry, bitersweet, hawthorne, bayberry and scarlet thorn.

Needless to say, it is advisable to plot out your garden systematically before even buying a seed or a shrub. Just take an ordinary sheet of paper, pen and ink and a ruler. The dimensions of the garden can be measured by pacing or, if you want to be more exact, with a tape measure. Then draw a rough outline, using a scale of, say, half an inch or one inch to the yard, according to the size of your garden. Study the nature of your soil and find out what flowers will grow best. Take particular notice of shade, as it is a most important factor. Also of exposure, whether north, south, east or west.

Then determine where your flowerbeds are to come, map out your walks and paths, remembering carefully the hints given at the beginning of this article on utilizing the plants, trees and shrubs in your garden as a means of enhancing the exterior of your house.

The Vegetable Garden.

One excellent method of solving the "cost of living" problem is to grow your own vegetables. To the uninitiated this sounds at first like an heroic measure. Almost everybody has some idea of having a flower garden "sometime" or "when I get around to it." But a vegetable garden sounds like a terribly formidable task. In reality, it is accomplished in spare time. Of course, the advantages of a vegetable garden are even more obvious than those of the more ornamental flower garden. In the first place, one gets absolutely fresh vegetables, and in the second place, one gets cheap vegetables. Furthermore, one eats more vegetables, and this is a commendation devoutly to be wished in this excessively carnivorous country.

When contemplating a vegetable garden, it is advisable to proceed as outlined above in planning the flower garden. Plot out your garden on paper. Of course, in this case it becomes a much simpler task as the vegetable garden is nearly always square or rectangular and it becomes merely a question of allotting the amount of space you will give to each vegetable.

It is calculated that a tenth of an acre, carefully cultivated, will keep a small family of four or five in vegetables the year around. The soil should be a light sandy loam, that crumbles away in your fingers when you pick it up. Make a list of the different vegetables you want to grow. Determine approximately the quantity of each you will require.

Map It Out.

Then map out on paper with your ruler the space you will give to them. Crops that remain for several years, such as rhubarb, asparagus or radishes, should be kept all at one end. After these should come those that remain for one season, as, for instance, carrots, parsnips or onions. At the other end you should have crops that are rotated throughout the season.

Buying your seeds is a very important undertaking. Needless to say, you should buy the best and from the most reliable dealers. It is almost hopeless to judge from catalogues, because of the contradictory descriptions, and your selections should, as far as possible, be made personally. Don't make the mistake of trying to save money by spending small sums

The New Blue Rose, Veilchenblau, and Roses Generally.

Rose gardening is lent a new zest by the recent addition of that rare culmination of long and scientific effort, "the blue rose." Through the alchemy of the patient and expert hybridizer, this rare creation, long deemed an impossibility, comes as an added treasure to those who find much happiness among their roses. It comes endorsed by our leading florists, who in a recent assemblage decided that at last we have a rose worthy of being called blue; violet-blue, its pretty name, as Veilchenblau indicates. Its European introducers describe it: "Blue flowers, appearing in large clusters, semi-double, medium size. Has showy, yellow stamens, and with the blue flowers it is particularly attractive. Very strong grower, glossy, green foliage and few prickly thorns." An enthusiastic florist thus describes it: "In Veilchenblau we have an improved and glorified free-flowering Rambler, a seedling from the famous Crimson Rambler. The flowers are violet-blue in color; a perpetual source of wonder; standing out in graceful form in large clusters, individual flowers measuring from one and one-half to two inches across. This new rose is perfectly hardy, the growth vigorous, and with its beautiful foliage is well entitled to the honor of the title, 'Queen of all Roses.'" A new rose, blooming in a color hitherto unknown in the vast rose family, and with the hardiness and rampant growth of the ramblers, is truly an acquisition, and florists are anticipating its combination with the red and the white ramblers in national color effects.

Heretofore the crimson Rambler has led in its class, the most popular of all roses, both in point of vigor and rampant growth. A strong, healthy plant will send up shoots from ten to twenty feet in height in a single season, easily climbing the second story and over-arching its windows when planted in a rich deep loam with an eastern or southeastern exposure. I have seen it, too, fairly embowering and wholly glorifying the trellised entrance of a simple cottage, planted in the full blaze of the western sun. Since the blue rose is declared its equal in these good points, its chaste and unique color will doubtless render its fanciful title, "Queen of the Ramblers," an enduring one.

BLUE ROSE IS CROWNED AS "QUEEN OF THE RAMBLERS"

Climbers are of Great Artistic Aid in Embowering Archways—
Varieties for All Climates—The Water Garden

The hardy climbing roses of all classes are the main reliance in the North for free effects, and for artistically embowering doorways, verandas and balconies. The tendency to mildew in climbers thus used is greatly reduced when secured to wire or lattice trellises, which provide a free circulation of air—a condition most conducive to health. For this reason, when fastened directly to buildings, they should be secured with long strips of cloth or leather, allowing them to sway loosely. Hardy climbers in the North and the profuse blooming, tender sorts in the South, are employed in picturesque effect in covering summer-houses and canopied garden walks, for arching gateways or festooning from post to post along driveways. A pillar of roses is secured by training to a substantial post of imposing height.

Hardy Hybrid Perpetuals.

These are hardy in most of the States without protection after becoming well established, though benefited greatly, everywhere, by a substantial mulch for root protection, applying it after the ground is frozen, and leaving it on in the spring to prevent too early a start and serve as a fertilizer. Old manure is best, and decayed leaves are good. Rich soil, frequently stirred, and correct pruning are the secret of freedom of bloom in this class. Keep crude manure away from the tender rootlets, and give plenty of water in drouthy times to keep the bushes growing vigorously the sum-is right, but should not be applied before the ground freezes hard—the first of December in latitude of New York.

Everblooming or Tea Roses. These tender class are easily wintered over in the South. In the North they may be carried over in pots, old frames or in pots indoors. Here, planted in open ground in late May or early June, they soon begin blooming. Much is gained by starting them in pots. An eastern exposure suits them, where, under good treatment, they will bloom continuously until heavy frosts. Their free-blooming habit along with their beauty and delicious fragrance make them very popular for both pot and box gardening, and no place better suits them than an east porch. In open ground keep them free from insects, give plenty of water during drouth and mulch them well with lawn clippings to keep their roots cool during hottest weather.

Now, to keep them blooming: Cut the roses before they fade, and when a branch has finished blooming cut it back to a strong eye—that is, a well-formed leaf-bud, and another branch will start and soon be blooming. This constant cutting and cutting back is the secret of plenty of roses, and is all the pruning needed.

Remedies for Rose Pests. Mildew may be overcome by dusting the bushes while wet with powdered sulphur. This renders them slightly, however, and a solution of some good white soap containing no free alkali is better. Use this formula: One-quarter of a pound, cut fine and perfectly dissolved in a pailful of boiling water. Add five pailfuls of cold water and use at once, as it thickens too much in cooling to be used in a sprayer. A three-gallon pail

mer through, so there may be plenty of new wood for a succession of bloom. In early spring, before the buds even begin to swell, cut the branches back from one-third to one-half their length. Some branches must be cut back to two or three buds (leaf-buds) before one is reached that is strong enough to develop new growth. All gnarled, half-dead and weak growths must be cut out entirely. Hybrid teas may be carried through northern winters very successfully with good protection, and furnish an abundant supply of large and most beautiful roses, under good treatment. A five or six-inch mulch is the required size. This solution will also prevent the coming of green lice and other pests, and will destroy them after they have gained a foothold. Cold water alone, applied with force, will destroy green lice. Above solution will destroy the rose slug. The rose-chaffer must be hand-picked in the early morning, dropping them into a vessel containing kerosene. Pick and burn the leaves in which the leaf-roller is found rolled up and dust the bushes with kerosene. This or Persian insect powder dusted on the bushes while wet will destroy the rose-mite.

physical condition and digestion. "To take a small hoe and shovel also and dig till we gently perspire" is good for anybody, whether the routine work be in the office or the domestic labor of poplars and mountain ash. Don't try to make a wild garden directly under your windows. There is the place where your most formal effects should be achieved.

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE IS VITAL HOUSEHOLD PROBLEM

Large Proportion of Disease Engendered by Cans of Rubbish
Standing in Basement—Look after the Janitor

By IRVING H. HANCOCK

TO live in morbid terror of germs is to miss the beauty of the sunset. If one must have his mind, at all times on the dangers of ptomaine poisoning he will lose the flavor of many a plate of ice cream. People lived happily, and often healthily, before bacteria or ptomaines had ever been heard of.

On the other hand we are learning nowadays, and with astonishment for many, that the length of life is greatly increasing. Indeed, it is very likely that after a while one will hear his neighbor say: "He was only ninety-four—altogether too young to go!"

This is neither fantasy nor attempted humor. Man is becoming a longer-lived animal, and the reason is advance in our knowledge and practice of hygiene, which, like many other virtues, begin at home.

In the household hygiene is mainly in the hands of the housewife. Every sound woman abhors filth. The filth that she is charged with removing or having removed consists mostly of garbage and rubbish—the latter mainly in the form of sweepings.

Supervise the Janitor.

Municipal authorities look after the removal of these menacing materials.

The city woman, especially if she live in an apartment house, has only to see to it that the garbage and rubbish go promptly down to the janitor. Ah, but is that all? It is equally important to know what the janitor does with this refuse after he gets it. If it stands uncovered in a dark, damp basement it is dangerous so long as it remains there. The housewife should make it her business, from time to time, to see just how the janitor handles the refuse. He should keep both garbage and rubbish in covered metallic containers and in a separate shed or closet, until the city's collector is due. If he does not, one can lodge effective, secret complaint with the health department.

Uncovered tins of dusty rubbish, standing in the basement of an apartment house, afford ideal breeding places for germs, which a draft or the soles of shoes may spread all through the house, and the nearest housewife may have to pay a severe family health penalty because of some slovenly neighbor. It is equally important that the containers of refuse, when set out on the sidewalk for the city's collector, be covered. Here an entire neighborhood is endangered by blowing dust or dried particles of garbage. Here, again, confidential complaint to the health department will compel the covering of all refuse. The fact should be impressed that in dust and in decaying garbage bacteria breed and multiply with marvelous rapidity.

The Housewife's Task.

In the smaller towns and in the country the problem is somewhat different. Here usually it devolves upon the housewife to devise her own means of family safety. In this connection there is one practice, still too common, that cannot be too quickly abandoned, and that is of dumping sweepings in the back-yard—on the ground or ash pile, or in a barrel. Here the dust may lie for a while, germs breeding in it rapidly; and the first strong wind drives these millions of foul particles, along with the dust, back into the house—or into the house next door. Household dust blowing about a locality is the least thought-of, but perhaps most fruitful, cause of the numerous trips of the doctor's buggy through the neighborhood. Disagreeable though it sounds, it really becomes part of a housewife's duty to know how her next-door neighbor disposes of her dust and rubbish.

The surest agent to apply to such refuse is—fire! A dozen or a score of bricks can be built into a crude backyard furnace in which a small fire can be kindled and the dust brought out and dropped on it. Some housewives already burn the dust in their kitchen ranges, and this is all right, if care be taken to see that all the dust goes in. Yet in summer, when kitchen fires are not common, these careful housewife will appreciate the little brickied-in outdoor furnace.

No Accumulations!

It is a rule with a good many householders in smaller towns to have a dust barrel or box in the yard, and to burn the stuff when "enough of it" has accumulated. If the container be left uncovered this habit amounts merely to providing a breeding-place for germs and facilitating their distribution. At the best, with a cover, this yard container of rubbish is unsanitary. Instant burning of the dust removes the increasing bacteria from further consideration.

If the garbage can be fed to swine or poultry it is wise economy. But this garbage should be fed at once, not left standing. If no such use for it exists, and there is no neighbor who will take the garbage daily, then this harmful waste material should be burned every day. The crude furnace of bricks may be used, or one's ingenuity may devise some way of rigging up a metal container to fit over the brick furnace. In this metal container the garbage can be dried thoroughly over the fire, and the dried product is then available for use in the kitchen stove.

Several manufacturers have placed on the market effective "refuse cremators" that will dispose of all the garbage and rubbish of a large house. These can be used in the yard and will burn any kind of fuel. Such a "cremator" costs from seven to ten dollars; in safety it is worth many times the price.

Hints for Economy

Sunbonnets for "at home" wear made of tea-chest matting are cool and serviceable. This matting may be had at the grocer's, generally for the asking. Take any pattern desired and cut the front from the straw, binding it all around with calico. A double ruffle may be added stitched to the front about a half inch from the edge. Make the crown of the calico in the same way it is made for any other sunbonnet. These never need "doing up" and they wear well.

Some people object to sour milk or "saleratus" biscuits and cakes. Consequently many good housewives who are economical in other respects throw away sour milk. This is unnecessary, as it can be used with baking-powder, or even with yeast, with as satisfactory results as sweet milk.

From the first advent of baking-powders every manufacturer thereof and every recipe giver has claimed that the two—baking-powder and saleratus, or soda—must not be used in combination. But this depends. Just a little saleratus may be added to sour milk, sufficient only to sweeten it, and then the cook may proceed exactly as she would with sweet milk, using the usual proportion of baking-powder.

It is impossible to give any definite instructions as to the required quantity, as this depends upon the sourness of the milk and the strength of the bi-carbonate of soda, or saleratus. Never use enough to make the milk foam or bubble. It is better to add a very small quantity, and after stirring till it is dissolved and thoroughly incorporated with the milk, then taste. Add no more than is necessary to overcome the acidity. Do not dissolve the saleratus in hot water, but powder it as fine as possible with a knife, and add it to the milk dry.

KEROSENE IS VALUABLE AID TO WASHING DIRTY CLOTHES

Modern Labor Saving Devices Quite Indispensable in all Households that are to Run Smoothly—Keep Machines Clean

By MARGUERITE RUSSELL

Kerosene is used for the washing of very dirty articles, in the proportion of one tablespoonful to four or five gallons of boiling water, to which at least one ounce of washing soda and a quarter of a pound of shredded soap has been added. The clothes without preliminary treatment are put into the boiling liquid and pressed down with a stick until they are wholly under water and allowed to boil quickly for one hour, when they must be removed and rinsed thoroughly in at least three hot rinsing waters containing a little dissolved washing soda. This is necessary to remove greasy matter, a certain amount of which adheres to the clothes when they are taken out of the boiler. They should be blued and hung in the open air to dry, to deprive them of the smell of kerosene.

Laundry Fittings

Coming now to the durable parts of the laundry fittings, the ironing board or table should be a solid affair, as nothing is so exasperating as a shaky table. If we are to do our work with pleasure and the minimum expenditure of nervous force, then look to such things as this, and adopt labor-savers of every kind, provided that their use does not materially increase the wear and tear of clothes. There is so much wear and tear upon laundry utensils that unless they are strong and good they will not last and will only prove a source of worry.

A washing board is of great assistance, and a brush will be found valuable, especially for collars, cuffs, bands, and all firmer articles. The use of washing and wringing machines causes less wear and tear, and also save time. Wringing machines are either attached to washing machines or are movable, and can be fixed to a tub, table or stand.

Take the greatest care to keep every part of the wringer, especially the India rubber rollers, clean, and free from dust, oil and soap.

Mangles, like wringing machines, must be kept scrupulously clean. Irons should be of different sizes and have comfortable handles. Each iron must be provided with an iron stand, and an ironholder. Sleeve and skirt boards are all required in fitting out a home laundry.

TAFT BUSY WITH COMMENCEMENTS
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.—As Col. Roosevelt was passing Sandy Hook this morning, President Taft's train was pulling out of the railroad yards here for Villa Nova and Lincoln University, Pa. The executive will make a short commencement address at each institution.
At West Chester, Pa., the program included a short stop to permit of an automobile ride around the city, the home of Representative Butler, who accompanies the president on the trip. At Oxford, Pa., the presidential special will be stopped long enough for the executive to say a few words to the citizens. The president will reach Washington late tonight.
Gov. Stuart, of Pennsylvania, will accompany the president on that part of the trip from Villa Nova to Lincoln University.

THOUSANDS DIED IN GREAT FLOODS
BERLIN, June 18.—With communication partly re-established to the central European zone devastated by the floods of the last few days, the magnitude of the disaster is becoming known. The death list is very heavy. The reports received here show that nearly 1,000 Hungarians, 300 Servians, 300 Germans, 200 Swiss and 100 Austrians have been drowned, and it is feared the list will grow when complete details are received.
Numerous districts are still cut off by the high water. Soldiers are burning the dead and aiding the survivors whose homes have been washed away.

Get a Hoosier Bank Account!

PERHAPS you think because you have not placed the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet in your kitchen, your bank account is just $27.50 ahead.

But that is hardly true.

There are hidden leaks and losses even in your kitchen that the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet would have plugged. There are little bills to the butcher, baker, doctor, crockery store, shoe-maker and even the dressmaker which the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet would have saved.

Every cent of it came out of your bank account. And it is gone—gone just as surely and permanently as last winter's snow—with no possible chance of bringing it back.

It is true, you haven't checked out $27.50 to us, but that amount has been paid out in some way to someone, and paid not once but perhaps a dozen times over, without even bringing you a Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet to show for it.

Surely it is not economy to go on paying for this Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet over and over again without even having the satisfaction of owning it—especially when you can have your cabinet at once, and merely pay for it as it pays for itself. You merely take $3.00 out of your purse when you get the cabinet, and the balance you pay out of the cabinet's own earnings. $1.00 per week is all we ask.

Simply come in this week while our complete stock is on display—perhaps you will be inclined to cut down this month's expenses.

The Beer of Comparison

In homes, in restaurants, in clubs, everywhere, you'll often hear the statement: "This is a good beer; it's almost as good as Gund's Peerless."

And that is the highest praise that can be bestowed on any beer. It is nature's own invigorator. A bottle calms the overwrought nerves, rejuvenates the tired body, makes life's prospects rosy again. But be sure it's

WISCONSIN NEWS

CHAFIN INSISTS OPTION IS WRONG

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 18.—"As Prohibitionists, we are unalterably opposed to local option" declared E. W. Chafin, dry dealer and national standard bearer of his party in 1908, who delivered a lecture here yesterday.

"We contend," he said, "that the liquor traffic is wrong morally, and therefore no law to license it can be right. It is the same principle as that involved in the Douglas popular sovereignty propaganda. Lincoln said that if slavery was wrong no majority could put a slave anywhere. You can vote saloons in as well as out by local option, and we hold that a thing morally wrong cannot be made right by a majority vote."

MAY OFFSET SMITH

The alarm was given at 7:40 when the flames were seen coming out the windows at the extreme top of the building. The elevator, several buildings owned by J. L. Hagensick and also a large residence house occupied by John Hammond, were completely destroyed. The Hagensick residence was badly damaged also, loss about $80,000.

Two firemen were overcome by the heat and were taken to the Clark hospital but their condition is not considered dangerous.

Manager R. G. Stuhr says the origin of the fire is a mystery as the elevator has been closed since last Friday. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for a sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. Hoescher Bros., special agents.

Not a Hat

A teacher in one of the Newton lower grade schools was entertaining two visitors to the classroom. Several days previously the teacher had furnished amusement and at the same time increased the children's store of knowledge by a series of questions of the following nature:

"What do we sit on that rhymes with hair?"

Some child would answer "chair." Today the visitors would be pleased to observe how readily the pupils could answer.

"What do I wear on my head that rhymes with cat?" asked the instructor.

Up went the hand of a boy with red hair.

"Well, Johnny," said she, "you may tell us."

Johnny arose and appeared frightened.

"It's a rat," he blurted.

And then the tableau.—Boston Post

One by Bachelor Burton

Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who is a bachelor and has never been ensnared by the wiles of women, tells a story of a young lady and a judge of his acquaintance. The former was a witness in the latter's court. The prosecuting attorney had repeatedly put to her questions which she persistently evaded under the plea that she did not comprehend his meaning. Whereupon his honor undertook to bring out the proper responses. Leaning over he said in a kindly and fatherly manner, "Young woman, why is it that you insist in refusing to understand the questions of counsel? You are a person of charm, grace, beauty and more than average intelligence, and—"

"Thank you, your honor," interrupted the young woman. "If it were not for the fact, judge, that I am under oath I would return the compliment."—National Monthly.
